PUBLIC HOMAGE TO R.101 VICTIMS.

WESTMINSTER HALL
SCENES.

SOLEMN PROCESSION IN LONDON TO-MORROW.

SURVIVOR'S RELAPSE.

London, Oct. 9.
To-morrow from eight in the morning until ten at night the public will pass through Westminster Hall paying silent homage to the bodies of the R.101 victims lying in state there. The flower-covered coffins will lie in a double row on a dais in the centre of the purple carpeted hall and the people will pass on either side of them.

Men of the Royal Air Force who have formed a guard over the dead since they reached England, will continue to do so during the lying in state and until the coffins are removed for burial at Cardington on Saturday.

The funeral procession that morning, from Westminster to Euston Station, will pass through the heart of London. In it will march the third watch of the R.101 and the reserve men as well as the crew of her sister ship, the R.100.

Solemn Procession.

From No. 10, Downing Street where a Cabinet Council was held to-day an announcement has been issued mentioning that the funeral procession will be passing through the street of London for two hours before noon, and adding, "During this time it is the Government's hope that the sense that this solemn public procession is in progress in London will be present to the mind of the whole nation."

For the memorial service, to be held St. Paul's at noon, over 20,000 applications already have been received. There are seats for only 5,000 although all possible extra accommodation is being arranged. Official representatives of all European and many other countries will attend as well as the members of the Cabinet, and the Dominion Premiers and delegates in London for the Imperial Conference.

Prince Attending Funeral.

The Prince of Wales will represent the King. He will also proceed to Cardington, Bedford, and will walk with the Prime Minister in the procession taking the victims to their last common resting place.

The people of Beauvais to-day formed a procession and followed to the outskirts of their town the hearse containing Rigger Church who died from his injuries and whose body was brought to England to-day. The condition of the R.101 survivor, Foreman-Engineer Leech, who has had a slight relapse, remains unchanged. The survivors Cook, Savory and Disney are making good progress and will be out of hospital in a few days.—British Wireless.

Wireless Close Down.

London, Oct. 9.
The B. B. C. announces that all its stations will close down after the R.101 Memorial Service at St. Paul's Cathedral to-morrow, until 2.30 p.m. They will also close down from ten in the morning until 5.15 p.m. on Saturday, when the funeral of the victims takes place at Cardington.

At the request of the German broadcasting authorities, the Memorial Service broadcast will be relayed to Germany.

The Air Ministry has requested private aircraft not to fly over the Bedford or Cardington districts during the funeral.—Reuter.

Commission of Enquiry.

London, Oct. 9.
The Commission of Enquiry is continuing its researches into the cause of the R.101 disaster.

All access to the wreck by the public has been prohibited. No announcement will be made until the Commission has reported to the authorities.—British Wireless.

Expressions of Sympathy.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary has forwarded copies of letters and telegrams of condolence from the French Consul-General, the Governor of Macao and the Portuguese Consul-General in Hongkong. These have received suitable acknowledgment from the Hongkong Government.

TRAGIC CIVIL WAR DEVELOPING.

OPPOSING FORCES FACE TO FACE IN BRAZIL.

PLANES JOIN REBELS.

New York, Oct. 9.
There is every indication of a tragic civil war developing in Brazil, according to latest messages from Rio de Janeiro, the capital.

The opposing forces, rebel and Federal, are facing each other at various points, and the latest reports seem to show that the Federal authorities were at first completely surprised and have now pulled themselves together.

Energetic preparations are now being made to put down the revolution. Belle Horizonte and Minas Geraes have been bombed from the air by Federal planes, but ten of the machines have joined the rebels.

The Government is seeking to secure fresh machines from the United States.

Foreign diplomats in Rio de Janeiro are of the opinion that the struggle will be prolonged.

A message from Barbadoes announces that H.M.S. Delhi has gone to Trinidad to refuel in readiness for possible despatch to Pernambuco, to protect British interests there should the revolution develop. Pernambuco is now in the hands of rebel forces.

THE GOVERNMENT'S PROGRAMME.

A NATIONAL MATERNITY SERVICE.

London, Oct. 9.
Mr. Arthur Henderson, at the Labour Conference to-day, announced that the Government meant to evolve a National Maternity Service to reduce the mortality of childbirth.

The Conference voted for pensions of £1 per week at the age of sixty years.—Reuter.

Mr. Greenwood, Minister of Health, said that in Britain the mortality among mothers was higher than it was among miners. Every year 3,000 mothers died in childbirth. The Government intended to mobilise every form of health provision and service there is in the country into a comprehensive scheme.—British Wireless.

London Oct. 9.

Features of the ballot for the National Executive of the Labour Party at Llandudno, are that Mr. J. R. Clynes is at the head of the poll. Sir Oswald Mosley (who was defeated last year) has been elected. Lady Mabel Smith is among the women elected; but Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mr. Morgan Jones (Secretary to the Board of Education) were defeated.

Mr. Thomas was at the bottom of the poll. Sir Oswald Mosley previously secured a notable personal triumph in the debate on unemployment.—Reuter.

ENGLAND-KARACHI RECORD.

AIRMAN DOES TRIP IN FIVE DAYS.

London, Oct. 9.
Flight-Lieutenant Hill, although delayed at Constantinople through the sudden condition of the landing ground, has reached Karachi, having flown solo from England in the record time of five days.

He hopes to achieve a new record for the flight to Australia.—British Wireless.

KINGSFORD SMITH REACHES ROME.

COMPLETES FIRST STAGE OF FLIGHT.

Rome, Oct. 9.
Wing-Commander Kingsford Smith, the only airman who has successfully flown the Pacific and the Atlantic, and who is now engaged on a flight to Australia, having arrived here on the first stage of his flight.—Reuter.

CHINA'S NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

"DOUBLE TENTH" OBSERVED.

MANY GATHERINGS HELD IN HONGKONG.

CITY HALL FUNCTION.

The Chinese National Day, marking the 19th anniversary of the establishment of the Republic, is being widely celebrated to-day. Known as the "Double Tenth," from the fact that it falls on the tenth day of the tenth month, it is for the first time being observed as a general holiday in Hongkong. The streets of the Colony were gay with National flags to-day, and many functions have been arranged to mark the occasion, the principal event being an "At Home" at the City Hall at which the Chinese members of the Legislative Council were hosts on behalf of the Chinese community.

The City Hall was most tastefully decorated for the reception given jointly by the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow, Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall and Hon. Dr. Tao. From the entrance and up the main stairway to the reception hall, pot palms, with national flags as a background, formed an avenue, and in the main hall, a gay colour scheme was introduced by the suitable arrangement of flags, bunting and greenery.

Governor's Arrival.

His Excellency the Governor (Sir William Peel, K.B.E., C.M.G.), was the guest of honour, and upon his arrival at the City Hall he was warmly greeted by his hosts. Upon his entry to the room, where was assembled a large number of the Chinese community, together with British naval, military and Air Force representatives, as well as members of the Executive and Legislative Councils, Sir Shouson Chow gave the toast of "The King." His Excellency following with that of the "Republic of China."

Subsequently the company were entertained with musical selections by the Chinese band of the Confucius Society, and broke into groups to exchange greetings.

Chinese Y.M.C.A. Gathering.

The celebration at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. this morning at 8 o'clock was marked by impressive though simple proceedings in which a gathering of over 1,000, representing the students of forty Chinese boys and girls' schools of Hongkong, including the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., participated in the singing of the National Anthem.

The proceedings were presided over by Mr. Ngan Kwan-yue, assisted by Mr. T. N. Chau, who delivered a short speech in which he urged the members of the Y.M.C.A. and Chinese schools to realise the importance of the anniversary of the establishment of the Republic.

Character Building.

The speaker stressed the need for the building up of character by Chinese youths as a first step towards the formation of a modern nation, and said that it had always been the untiring effort of the officials at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. to work for character formation among the younger Chinese generation.

The meeting concluded with the hoisting of the national flag amidst cheers and the firing of a long string of fire-crackers.

Other Functions.

The festivities at the Comptore Association, China Building, were semi-private, but during the course of the morning quite a large number of guests visited the

ALL OUT FOR IMPERIAL PREFERENCES.

READY FOR ELECTION.

London, Oct. 9.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the leader of the Conservative Party, has issued a statement declaring that the Party, guided by the views expressed by the Dominions representatives at the Imperial Conference on Wednesday, will formulate their own proposals for carrying out the principle of Imperial Preferences and will submit them to the people at the next election for their final and definite assent.

Simultaneously with Mr. Baldwin's acceptance of Imperial Preference, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. A. V. Alexander, in a significant speech at Leicester, denounced tariffs and declared that an attempt was being made to exploit the Imperial Conference in order to stampede the country into a drastic change of its fiscal system.

The Daily Express and the Daily Mail, the Empire Free Trade papers, to-day consider that Mr. R. B. Bennett's offer is of first-rate importance, declaring that in Empire Preference lies the chief hope of dealing with present problems.

The heads of the delegations to the Imperial Conference began to-day to exchange views on the suggestions for the development of inter-imperial trade. All the proposals designed to this end will receive careful study.

It is understood that the suggestions made during yesterday's plenary session on economic questions does not, by any means, exhaust the stock of ideas which the delegates will consider and analyse.

Lord Sankey's Committee which is dealing with the various constitutional questions, to-day, discussed the question of Governors-General and the Communications Committee examined the question of establishing in the United Kingdom a wireless station capable of broadcasting throughout the whole Empire through which, if decided upon, the British Broadcasting Corporation would provide programmes and news bulletins.—British Wireless.

Another Alliance.

That considerable political intrigue is progressing behind the scenes in the North is evidenced by current rumours of a proposed grand alliance between Marshals Feng Yu-hsiang, Chiang Kai-shek and General Chang Hsueh-liang. The news is considered to be most extraordinary in view of the recent co-operation of the Feng and Yen armies in the war against the Nationalists.

An alliance between the Kuomintang under Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang and the Nanking Government would be nothing short of a complete Kuomintang surrender which Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang may not feel disposed to make unless he is really forced thereto by adverse circumstance.

The alliance is reported in connexion with an alleged disbandment of 16,000 Shansi troops by Marshal Feng's own men. The Shansi forces were retreating along the Lung-Hai Railway when they were disarmed by their Kuomintang comrades. This news comes from Nanking and remains to be confirmed.

Shantung and Mukden.

The Military Governor of Shantung Province, General Han Fu-chu, has sent a political emissary to Mukden to confer with General Chang Hsueh-liang, and it is expected that an amicable understanding will be reached between the Shantung and Manchurian leaders regarding the establishment of a buffer zone in Shantung.

General Shih Yu-shan, officer commanding the Northern troops in parts of Shantung, has proposed to Nanking an amalgamation with the forces under General Han Fu-chu.

Kuomintang Session.

The Nanking Central Political Council conferred this morning and decided that the Fourth Kuomintang Plenary Session should be held on November 12th. The Conference will be held at Nanking and great hopes are being entertained by the Nationalist leaders for the successful outcome of this Plenary Session which will decide the fate of the suggested National Assembly.

While the Kuomintang Plenary Session will confine its activities to Kuomintang affairs, the National Assembly will discuss national problems including difficulties in connexion with the disbandment of the armies in China.

It is believed that consumers

stocks are now low, and the first sign of business improvement should mean an increase in the demand.—Reuter.

CHANG ASSUMES OFFICE.

MUKDEN LEADER'S NEW POST.

CLOSER CONTACT WITH THE NATIONALISTS.

ALLIANCE RUMOURS.

Peking, Oct. 9.

General Chang Hsueh-liang was formally installed in office as Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, second only to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, at an impressive ceremony held this morning at the Government House, Mukden, the seat of the Manchurian Provincial Government.

The Mayor of Greater Shanghai, Mr. Chang Chun, at present acting as Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's personal envoy at Mukden, officiated at the ceremony when the young Manchurian ruler took his oath. The Nanking credentials were duly presented to him by Mr. Chang Chun.

Peking Commission.

The Manchurian Government, acting upon instructions from General Chang Hsueh-liang, will shortly issue a telegraphic circular pledging its support to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's plea for the immediate organisation of a National Assembly at Peking to settle outstanding disputes.

Meanwhile Nanking officials sources state that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek is contemplating the formation of a Political Commission at Peking, appointing General Chang Hsueh-liang as Chairman. The Commission will direct the numerous rehabilitation works in North China after the recent turmoil.

Another Alliance.

That considerable political intrigue is progressing behind the scenes in the North is evidenced by current rumours of a proposed grand alliance between Marshals Feng Yu-hsiang, Chiang Kai-shek and General Chang Hsueh-liang. The news is considered to be most extraordinary in view of the recent co-operation of the Feng and Yen armies in the war against the Nationalists.

This Association is of the opinion that the only practicable solution of the present serious financial situation of the country is the exercise of drastic retrenchment and regrets that the Government has completely failed to realize the absolute need there is for the immediate reduction of expenditure in all spending departments."

PECULIAR FATALITY
AT WANCHAI.INQUIRY INTO COOLIE'S
DEATH.

A fatality, brought about by a peculiar circumstance, was related at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon, when a Coroner's Inquiry was opened by Mr. Williams into the death of Kien Ming, a coolie, on September 22 last.

Revenue Officer Pearse said he was proceeding from Wanchai to his office on the morning in question, in his car. The car came out from Tin Lok Lane and, turning into Henneassey Road, had proceeded for a distance of about 20 yards along the tramlines, when Revenue Officer Grimmitt who was with him, shouted "Look out!"

That caused witness to take notice of an iron bar coming within his view four feet above the ground and projecting over his left mudguard. He tried to slew round to avoid it, but by that time a tram, which was approaching from the opposite direction, had come up and was level with the car. Witness jammed on his foot-brake and applied his handbrake as well, this having the effect of stopping the car one-and-a-half yards after the application of the brakes.

An Iron Bar.

Witness explained that he had had a momentary glimpse of a hand cart parked against the pavement in front of the godown on his left side as he emerged from Tin Lok Lane. His whole attention was otherwise centred on the approaching tram on the look-out for passengers who might be getting out of the tram and possibly stepping in his path.

Almost on the instant the car came to a standstill, after the hasty application of the brakes, witness felt a bump as if the car had struck something. Alighting, he found an iron bar, half an inch thick and forty feet long, on the roadway. Lying near it were two coolies, one of whom appeared to be in a lifeless condition.

The injured men were carried into the godown. Revenue Officer Grimmitt telephoned for an ambulance, while witness rendered first-aid. One of the men, after a short while, was able to sit up, apparently not very seriously injured.

Witness, who said that he had been driving almost every day for the last seven years, explained that he was going very slowly prior to the accident. It appeared to him that the man carrying the bar in front forgot for the moment the extra length projecting out, with the consequence that, although he successfully dodged the car, the end of the bar was struck by the car and both coolies were thrown down. Neither of the coolies was struck by the car itself.

The Verdict.

Dr. G. H. Thomas, Medical Officer at the Government Civil Hospital, said the deceased died after admission, on the afternoon of the same day, without regaining consciousness. At a post-mortem examination, witness discovered a fracture on one side of the skull, extending four inches from the temple to the base of the skull. It was a fracture or crack which could have been caused, witness said, by a heavy, bluntish instrument.

After further evidence, the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental Death."

TOURIST LINER
COMING."MALOLO" NOT OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

The Matson Navigation Company, owners of the Cruise Ship Malolo, have learned from experience in handling Tourist Cruises that their passengers do not appreciate having huge crowds of visitors from shore going over the ship while in port. Consequently, they have decided this year that the vessel will not be thrown open to the public. Neither will they permit any peddlars to do business on board.

Any persons, however, having legitimate business on board the Malolo or wishing to visit friends on board or those persons interested in travel can secure a pass from the General Agent of the Robert Dollar Company permitting them on board.

The s.s. Malolo, which is the pride of the Matson Fleet, will arrive at Hongkong on the morning of October 26th from Shanghai and will sail at 5.00 p.m. on October 28th, for Manila, and thence on her Round-the-Pacific Cruise. She has a large crowd of tourists for whom a very enjoyable shore programme has been arranged at Hongkong under the guidance of the American Express Company.

The operation of this palatial cruise vessel throughout the Orient has been placed in the care of the Dollar Steamship Line.

Fifteen families have been rendered homeless by a terrible fire that destroyed the village of Pralognan, in Savoy. The flames spread with such rapidity that thirty cottages and buildings were fully ablaze before the outbreak could be mastered by the fire brigades summoned from all the neighbouring communes. It was only with the greatest difficulty that the firemen succeeded in saving two houses from the ravages of the fire. All the rest of the village was totally destroyed.

The injured men were carried into the godown. Revenue Officer Grimmitt telephoned for an ambulance, while witness rendered first-aid. One of the men, after a short while, was able to sit up, apparently not very seriously injured.

Witness, who said that he had been driving almost every day for the last seven years, explained that he was going very slowly prior to the accident. It appeared to him that the man carrying the bar in front forgot for the moment the extra length projecting out, with the consequence that, although he successfully dodged the car, the end of the bar was struck by the car and both coolies were thrown down. Neither of the coolies was struck by the car itself.

FLIGHTS IN PROGRESS TO AUSTRALIA.KINGSFORD SMITH ALSO

London, Oct. 9. The noted Australian flier, Wing Commander Kingsford Smith, has left Heathrow, Middlesex, on a flight in a light aeroplane to Australia. —Reuter.

Chabot and Pickthorne.

Constantinople, Oct. 9. Flying Officer Chabot and Major Pickthorne, who are flying to Australia, had a mishap on restarting. Their machine buried its nose in the mud, but was extricated, and they have proceeded.

Fit. Lt. Hill.

Flight Lieutenant C. W. Hill, also on an Australian flight, successfully took off four hours later. Both machines are making for Aleppo.—Reuter.

Out to Beat Hinkler.

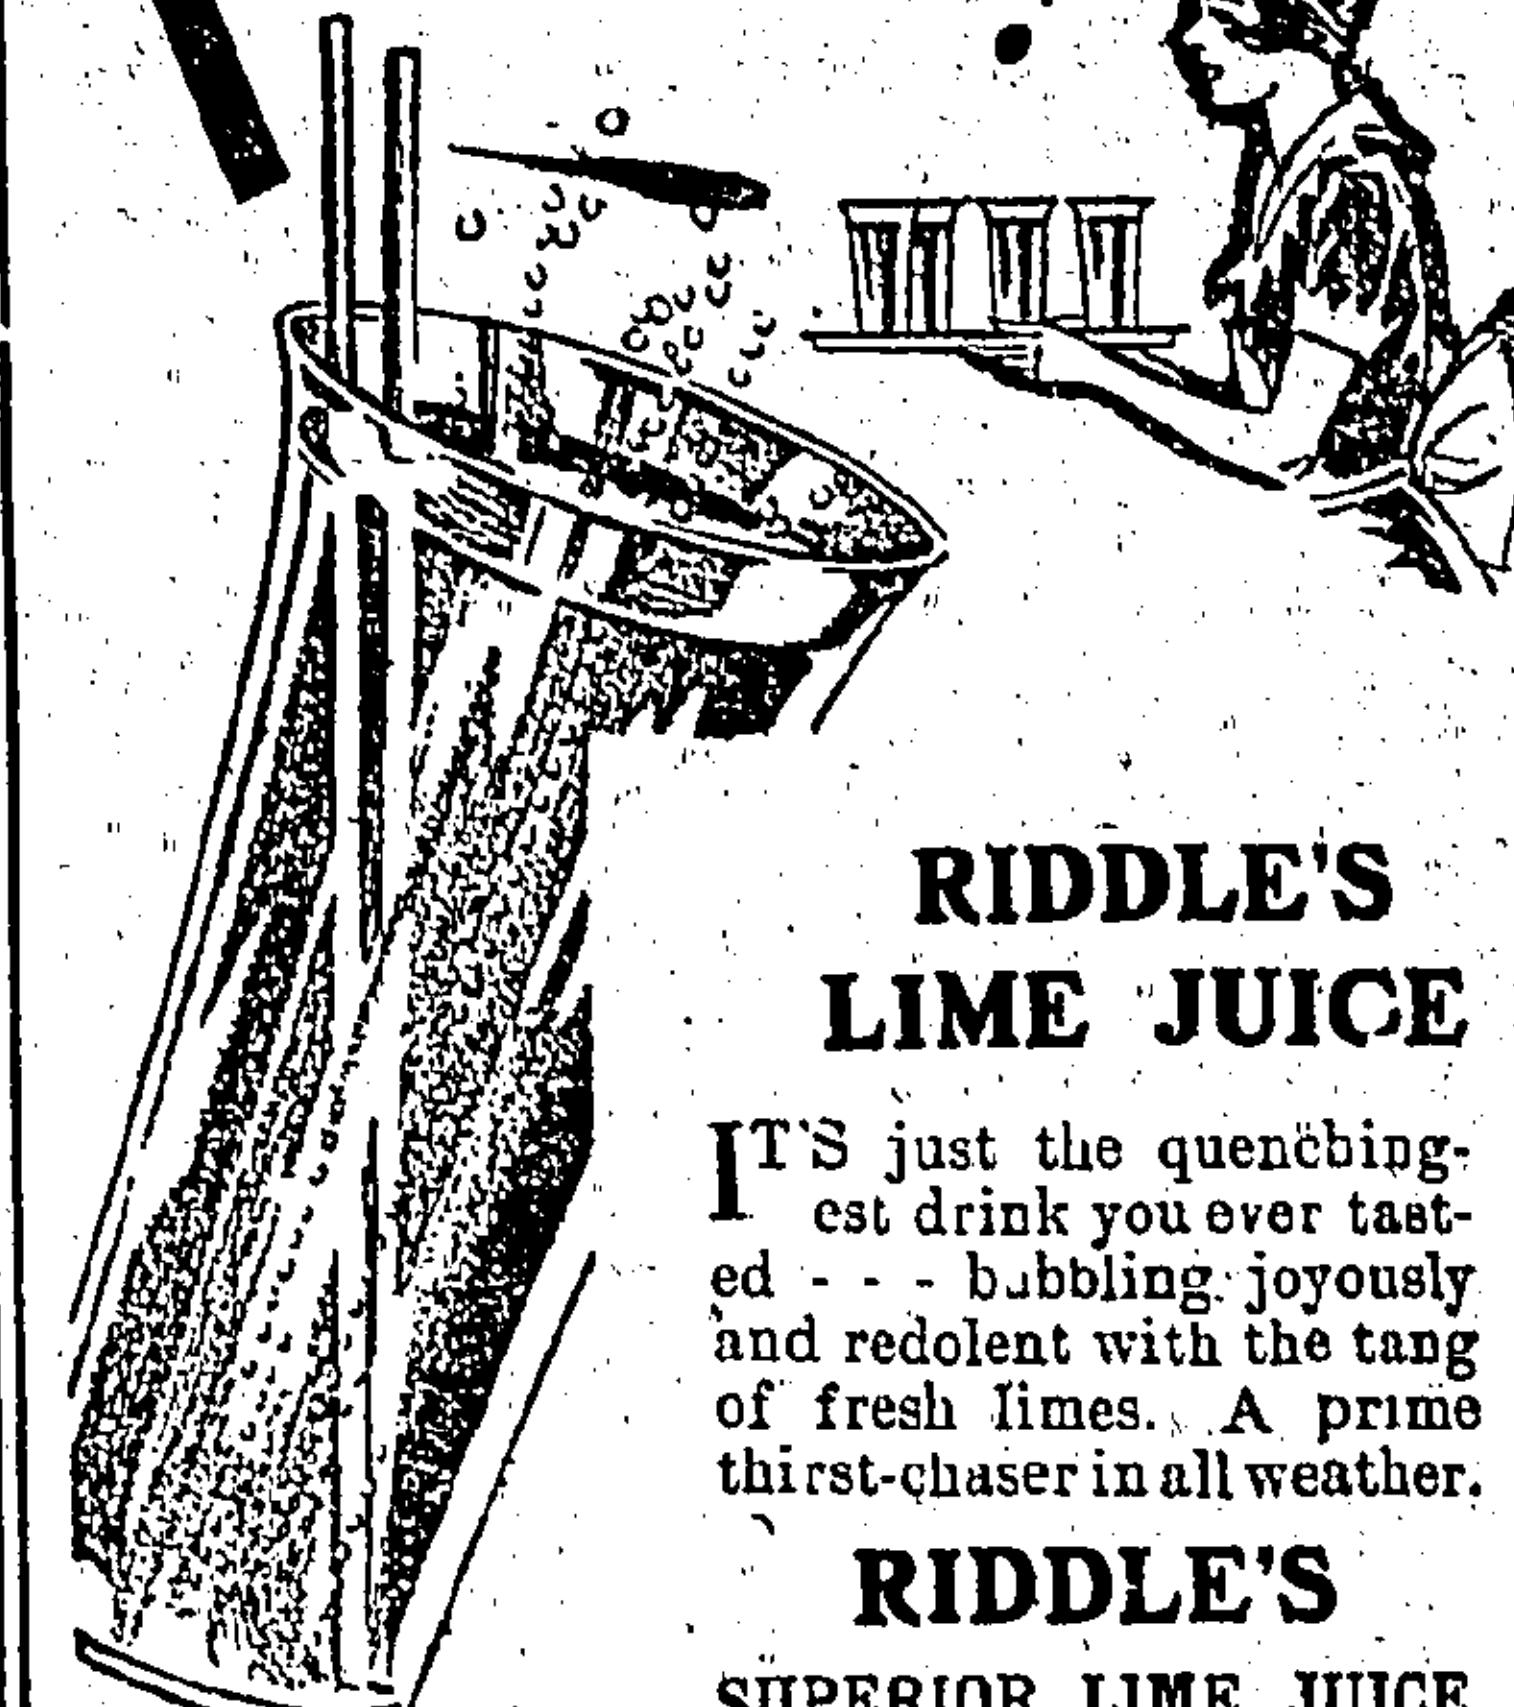

Flight Lieutenant Hill started out from Lympne aerodrome on October 5 in a Moth machine for Australia, to visit his parents in Queensland. He hoped to beat Bert Hinkler's time. Flight Lieutenant Hill was the hero of a dramatic escape from a Turkish prison camp during the war after feigning madness.

Flying Officer Chabot and Major Pickthorne, alternately piloting a Puss Moth machine by day and night, hope to reach Australia in a week from starting. They left Croydon on October 6.

Kingsford Smith.

The attempt by Kingsford Smith is the more interesting in view of a recent statement attributed to him, that he had decided not to set out on the flight to Australia. The reason given was fear of loss of nerve after his operation for appendicitis, which he had to undergo soon after completing the trans-Atlantic flight to America. Captain Barnard, it was recently reported, was to accompany Kingsford Smith on an attempt at a record flight to Australia.

The attempt to make Paris a centre of film industry by the creation of a second Hollywood at Joinville has met with a check from Germany. The project, for which Paramount are responsible, was to make talk films in all languages, for distribution in the different countries of Europe. It is now learnt that this plan has aroused anything but enthusiasm in some of the countries concerned who insist that films should be produced not only in their own language but also their own territory. Thus Germany has just decided to limit the number of talk films made abroad.

Your Child's Safeguard

Analyst's Certificate.

Montreal Testing Laboratory, Montreal. I hereby certify that I have made a careful chemical analysis of Baby's Own Tablets, which I personally purchased at a drug store. My analysis proves that: The tablets contain absolutely no arsenic, mercury or opium. They can be given with perfect safety to the youngest infants. There are a safe and efficacious medicine for the troubles they are intended to relieve and cure. (Signed) Milton L. Hersey, M.A., Ph. Not So Well!

Such a bold and fearsome pirate when he's well, but just now he feels he wants mommy's comforting arms around him. One cannot always understand how our young ones, in spite of all our loving care, get their little ailments. Few children escape them, so it is wise to have the child's own health-safeguard always handy. The most effective, safe and pleasant-to-take health-regulator for infants and young children is

Baby's Own Tablets

They are gentle and soothing. Without griping, they soon dispel constipation, correct stomach troubles and colic; check diarrhoea; expel worms, allay fever, colds and croup. Invaluable during teething, they quickly ease the pains and thus induce sound, natural sleep. They are the perfect juvenile medicine, the various active ingredients being ideally balanced. Safest and best.

On the site of Sir Walter Raleigh's ill-fated colony on Roanoke Island, where a little band of settlers set foot after a long voyage from England, a memorial has been dedicated to Virginia Dare, the first child of English parentage born in the New World. She was born on August 18, 1587. The memorial is a gateway erected by the United States' Government. It was not long after Virginia was born that the little group of settlers disappeared mysteriously, never to be heard of again.

NO ROOM FOR CRAZES!

A Sidelight on the Housing Problem.

In the days when I was a very young, very proud mother, I often thought scornfully of the mother bird turning her fledglings out of the nest almost before they seemed ready to fledge for themselves.

Now that my own children are rapidly growing up, I am beginning to have a certain amount of sympathy with her; I am up against a similar problem.

Consider the difficulties, of her lot.

Bringing up a family of living, fluttering beings in a one-roomed flat a few square inches in area must be a skilled job.

I fancy I know exactly when the fledglings are turned out. It is done firmly but kindly in sheer self-defence the moment they start a craze.

I speak feelingly. The passing crazes—each with its own collected hoard of strangely assorted articles—which attack each child, present a difficult proposition.

They are like measles, almost inevitable. After the ordinary collecting crazes, big tickets, cigarette cards, match-boxes, and foreign stamps have lost interest, individuality begins to assert itself; and home becomes, if anything, still more cluttered up.

Dick's tastes are all more or less scientific. He is easily the worst offender in our household.

Technical books, scraps of paper with calculations scribbled all over them, working models, designs for every conceivable type of engine, chemicals, photographic equipment, films, prints, and enlargements fill his own room, and overflow to all parts of the house.

Even the scullery, that last refuge of the housewife, is no longer my own. In addition to mixing explosives and testing them there, all his latest designs in boilers are made there and tested on the gas stove.

Nancy is not the victim of such a variety of crazes, but her belongings are apt to be equally difficult to house.

Her chief delight is natural history. And oh! the wriggly, squirming, slimy, creepy creatures that come under that category! And the awkward places in which one finds them casually dumped!

Now that my own children are rapidly growing up, I am beginning to have a certain amount of sympathy with her; I am up against a similar problem.

Consider the difficulties, of her lot.

There was one occasion when I was called away for a moment while in the midst of cooking, and returned to find a portly stag-beetle ambling slowly across my pastry board! My small daughter had calmly parked it there while she hunted for a box for its new home!

White mice, gold fish, puppies, stray kittens, young birds found in the garden scarcely able to fly, fury caterpillars, tadpoles, frogs, toads, newts, grass snakes, moths, butterflies, ladybirds—we've house them all!

Put my daughter was very surprised and hurt when the proverbial turning of the wort took place, and I sternly vetoed her brilliant suggestion (after a visit to the Zoo) to keep a pet ostrich!

In the old spacious days of large houses and roomy, untenantied attics there was room for the indulgence of crazes; but nowadays, with the average small house or flat, when children should be encouraged to express their own individuality, and must on no account be repressed, according to the psychologists, what are parents to do?

YOUR HAIR.

[By A Beauty Expert.]

Hair that has no particular charm can, with a little everyday care, be made very attractive. The treatment most necessary is brushing night and morning, and rubbing down afterwards with a clean silk handkerchief has a brightening effect.

Sometimes a fine white dust will appear on the brush, the cause of which may be rheumatism in the system. To get rid of this hair should be brushed from the back of the head to the front, and a fine comb used till the dust is removed.

Tender scalps require care, and for this reason massage is often more suitable than brushing.

A good plan is to dip the tips of the fingers in cold water, press them on the scalp, and move backwards, and forwards at intervals over the head, till the scalp is all aglow.

Cocoa-nut oil used in the same way will give that well-cared-for look, and also prevent the hair from turning grey early.

To keep the ends of the hair from splitting, a monthly trim is advisable, and singeing afterwards will help to keep its vitality.

Hot irons are not necessarily harmful for waving, if not used too near the scalp.

FATAL EXPLOSION OF FIRE CRACKERS.

INQUEST HELD ON SMALL CHINESE GIRL

Mr. Butters, sitting with a jury composed of Messrs. B. Pasco (foreman), Lo Ming-chun and R. Stock, held a coroner's inquiry yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the death of a six-year-old Chinese girl as a result of burns caused by the explosion of fire crackers at 604, Reclamation Street, on September 25.

Dr. K. Utley said that on September 25, about 6 p.m., a female child, Chan Fook-king, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital suffering from severe burns. She died about 8.30 p.m. The post mortem revealed that death was due to shock following the burns. The accident must have been caused by an explosion when she was in close proximity.

A woman named Pun Yat, living on the same floor, said that she was a carrier of fire crackers. She brought crackers from the factory and gave them to an old woman, who lived on the same floor, and who worked on them inserting the fuses. After the fuses were inserted the crackers were plaited on to a string and witness took them back to the factory. On September 26, witness was not in the house. There was a basket of crackers under the old woman's bed in the passage.

Chung Hi, the principal tenant of the floor, said she inserted fuses into crackers which the last witness supplied to her. On the day in question she was in the kitchen when the explosion occurred. The girl might have, in her absence, put fuses into the crackers.

Boy's Evidence.

A ten year old boy, Pun So-tai, living on the same floor, said that he saw the girl sitting in the passage putting fuses into the crackers. The old woman was in the kitchen at the time. The little girl was helping the old woman before she went into the kitchen. There was an incense burner close to the crackers. The occupier of the cubicle had just put some joss sticks into the burner. The girl picked up a stick and ignited one of the crackers. There was an explosion and he ran into the street. He had seen the girl working on the crackers before.

After other evidence had been heard, Chan Lan-fong, manager of the Kwong Maa Loong cracker factory, said that owing to pressure of work, the crackers were given to women employees of the factory who worked on them at home.

In his summing up Mr. Butters said that there was no doubt the crackers had been supplied by the factory but the explosion had occurred as a result of the girl igniting a cracker with a joss stick and that did not involve the manager of the factory in a case of man-slaughter.

The jury returned a verdict of death due to burns caused by the accidental explosion of Chinese fire crackers into which the girl was inserting fuses.

RESUMPTION OF CROWN LANDS.

DRAFT OF IMPENDING LEGISLATION.

GOVERNOR'S POWERS.

The draft is published in the Gazette of An Ordinance to amend the Crown Lands Resumption Ordinance, 1900.

It is explained that Section 2 of the Amending Ordinance substitutes four new sections for sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the Crown Lands Resumption Ordinance, 1900. The repealed sections provided alternative methods of procedure for the resumption of land required for public purposes depending on whether or not the value of the land exceeded five hundred dollars for any registered lot or portion of a lot. Thus the more elaborate procedure had to be resorted to where only one lot of over five hundred dollars in value was affected; whereas a resumption of an area valued at many thousands of dollars was governed by the less elaborate procedure if each registered lot in the area did not exceed five hundred dollars in value. In such cases each registered lot was separately dealt with. The new sections provide but one method of procedure adapted from the alternative methods provided by the sections they replace.

The original sections called for four months notice published in the Gazette and for a judge as chairman of the compensation Board in cases where the lot value exceeded five hundred dollars. In other cases the period of the notice was one month, it was not published in the Gazette and the chairman was a magistrate or justice of the peace. The new sections provide, in normal cases, for one month's notice and, at the Governor's discretion, either a judge or a magistrate or justice of the peace as chairman. The Governor appoints and instead of the Governor, in Council determines the remuneration of the clerk to the Board. The Governor is empowered to authorise a longer notice where it is considered necessary.

Service on the owner is required if he can be found and for the information of all persons interested in the land a further copy has to be conspicuously affixed upon land affected. Section 3 provides for the award of compensation and costs to persons deemed entitled thereto even if they have not appeared as claimants before the Board of arbitrators.

LOCAL ESTATES.

PROBATES GRATUIT IN THREE CASES.

Local estate to the value of $28,000 was left by Tseung Yuet, alias Tseung Kin-ho, alias Tseung Yan-tak, alias Tseung (or Cheung) Yuet-wo, lime merchant, who died at No. 46, Western Street on November 3, last year. Probate of the will has been granted to the widow, Tseung Lo-shi, of No. 211, Hennessy Road. Deceased carried on business under the name of the Yuet Wo firm, at Ping Chow Island, and bequeaths everything, including the business, to his family.

Chan Liu-shi, who died at No. 60, Yu Chan Street, Shamshuipo, on March 21, this year, left local estate worth $21,500. Probate of the will has been granted to Chan Tung-jun (son), the sole executor, and everything is bequeathed to the executor and his sisters.

Mui Ki (or Kee) lin, married woman late of No. 1, Devon Road, Kowloon Tong, who died on April 12, 1930, left Hongkong estate which has been valued at $14,900. Probate of the will has been granted to her husband's elder brother, Li Sheung-ming, and her husband, Li Chung-po, both of China Building. The bequests are of a family nature.

As the result of a public inquiry at St. Helens the County Coroner, Mr. S. Brighouse, has decided not to give an award of three guineas or to recommend Patrick Quigley to the notice of the Royal Humane Society in connexion with the rescue of a little girl named Marie Kieran in a sand-pit tragedy, when three children were buried alive. At the inquest it was stated that Quigley had rescued the girl. The Coroner said he had received anonymous letters, which had caused him to hold a public inquiry. A number of children and adults made statements that Quigley was not present. Addressing Quigley, Mr. Brighouse said: "There is a very honest doubt as to whether you were there, and I am only doing justice to you and everybody else. I should not be doing my duty if I gave you a sum of money or recommended your conduct to the Royal Humane Society."

MESSINA TO HAVE A NEW CLOCK.

TO BE THE FINEST IN THE WHOLE WORLD.

In Messina, now largely rebuilt after the terrible earthquake which devastated her in 1908, there will soon be erected a tower, forming part of the reconstructed Cathedral, which will rise to a height of 104 feet above the ground. This is the highest edifice yet constructed in Messina since the disaster, and its plans have been studied with the greatest care, so that it may be able to resist all future shocks.

The most remarkable part of the tower will be the clock that will crown it. This surpasses the clock of Strasbourg, up to now the most wonderful thing of its kind.

At the top will be seen a huge bronze lion, twelve feet in height, erect on its hind legs which are jointed. The lion holds between its front paws a banner with the arms of the city, of which the lion is the heraldic emblem. Under the lion will be a cock, also of bronze, eight feet high.

The lion is placed between the two ogives which contain the bells on which the hours will be struck by the figures of Dian and Clarentza, the two women of the people, who, legend says, being on guard on the night of August 8, 1282, gave the cry of alarm which announced the approach of Charles of Anjou.

The cock will crow three times a day, to salute the dawn, noon, and the hour of sunset.

At mid-day the lion will wave his tail, lift up his head, and roar. When he finishes, the following scene takes place below him. The Virgin stands in the middle, and an angel bears a parchment scroll before her. The angel then vanishes and Saint Paul appears with four ambassadors, who bow before the Virgin for her blessing. The first of these takes from her hands the document and bears it away.

"SUNNY SIDE UP."

CROWDED HOUSES AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Patrons of Queen's Theatre can rely on two hours of real enjoyment in "Sunny Side Up," the musical comedy-drama, starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. This talented couple are seen in totally different roles from those in which we have been accustomed to associate them in silent films, and they both register big successes. Janet Gaynor is the better of the two; she is a wonderful little actress, and in "Sunny Side Up" she has much scope for her abilities. Her song hits are particularly good. Charles Farrell seems somewhat stilted at times, but, none the less, he makes quite a good hero. A special word should be said of the extremely clever comedy work of Marjorie White, El Brendel and Frank Richardson; they produce any amount of fun, and whenever they are in the picture the audience can rely on having a good laugh. The other roles are also well allotted.

There are some very catchy song hits in this film, whilst the settings in some of the scenes, especially in the society carnival event, are on a lavish scale and noteworthy for the novelty of the effects.

Yesterday there were crowded houses at all shows, and we can safely predict for "Sunny Side Up" a bumper season. No-one should miss it.

TWO BURNT TO DEATH IN CRASH.

A LIVERPOOL JOURNALIST AND WIFE.

Mr. John Henry James, aged 23, a member of the Liverpool Daily Post and Echo staff, and his wife were burned to death following a collision on the main road at London Colney, near St. Albans in mid-week.

The motor-cycle on which they were riding was involved in a crash with a lorry, and burst into flames. The lorry was also set on fire. Mrs. James died a few moments after she had been taken from the wreckage. The motor cyclist, with his machine, was wedged under the lorry, and it was impossible to remove him until the St. Albans Fire Brigade had put out the flames.

James was on the last two days of his holiday, and he and his wife were on their way to London to stay the night, intending to return to Birkenhead the next day.

Revised parcel postage rates are contained in the Gazette, which also notifies that Regulation 27 under the Post Office Ordinance has been amended as follows:—The selling prices of Imperial and International reply coupons shall on and after the 10th day of October, 1930, be 16 cents and 25 cents each respectively."

THIS AFTERNOON'S RACING.

PROSPECTS OF EXCELLENT SPORT.

[By "Ringtail"]

There should be good sport at Happy Valley this afternoon, when the two days' meeting will open.

Amongst the big entries President Hall, Zorhan, Picculli, Pride of Tsingtao, Carnival Eve and Windsor Stag will be seen, which certainly justifies the success of the meeting beforehand.

Mr. Kinchin, who has been working very hard on the grass track, has every reason to be proud of his work, as the grass-course is in a wonderful condition, and is springy and light, as a properly prepared course should be. Fast times should be seen to-day under these circumstances.

Favourites should just about hold their own to-day, the only two races where we might look for a turn-up is the Kwantung Handicap "C" Class, and the Kwantung Handicap "B" Class. In the Kwantung Handicap "D" Class, anything may win, so don't be scared to back

THE "TELEGRAPH" ART SUPPLEMENT.

Many Interesting Pictures To-morrow

There will be an interesting selection of pictures in to-morrow's issue of the Telegraph Art Supplement.

Sporting events will be presented by photographs of the Volunteer Defence Corps athletic meeting, the polo match between the Civilians and P.B.I., the lawn bowls match between the Champions and the Rest, the final of the Commodore Pearson's Lawn Bowls Cup, and the Club v. Chinese Athletic football match.

There will be some excellent pictures of the procession in connexion with the festival of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary at Kowloon, a group taken on the occasion of the visit of H. E. the Governor of Hongkong to Macao, and a picture of the bridal party at the wedding of Mr. P. H. Lloyd and Miss M. O'May.

Over hill and dale from town to town or ford to ford.

Look at an Ordnance Survey quarter or half inch to the mile map, pick out almost any patch of ruer-straight road and you will almost certainly find that the Ordnance people have kindly labelled it "Watling Street" or "Stane Street," or "Roman Road"; and then you must try to connect up the patches which are still our highways by the portions which have vanished as roads and are only indicated by names of Roman origin.

The Pilgrims' Way is a trickier task, because it is as crooked as a dog's hind leg; but you will find patches of it named near Redhill and Canterbury and can trace some of the missing portions. If you remember the then undrained land of the lower levels made travel over them difficult, and the Way wanders curving along the sides or crests of the borderings slopes.

Keeping this in mind, and watching out for such names as religious minded pilgrims would have used or bestowed, you can map-travel quite a lot of the Way, and perhaps some day, make a "hike" over it yourself.

Feng and Chiang.

Peking, Oct. 9. The vernacular newspapers assert that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek has reached an agreement with Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, and they declare that the Kuominchun withdrawal was due to this agreement and that the troops are undefeated.

They draw attention to the fact that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, in a recent manifesto, exempted Marshal Yen Hsi-shan from the proposed amnesty, but not Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, and they declare that Marshals Chiang Kai-shek, Chang Hsueh-liang and Feng Yu-hsiang will shortly meet at Peking to discuss the rehabilitation of the country.

The 3rd and 4th. Manchurian Army Corps are reported to have commenced entering Hopei, under Generals Hu Yu-kun and Tang Yu-lin, respectively. —Reuter.

MARSHAL ARRIVES.

Nanking, Oct. 9.

Leaving Chengchow by air, and escorted by a military aeroplane, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek arrived at Nanking this afternoon, shortly after five. So secret was the news of his departure kept, that it was not known until this afternoon that he was en route to Nanking.

The city is gaily decorated for the occasion of the Double Tenth celebrations. Banners extolling Chiang Kai-shek for his victories are flying everywhere.

Marshal Chiang will receive the Powers' representatives at a Double Tenth reception in the National Government office to-morrow morning. —Reuter.

RAIL TRAFFIC RESUMES.

Nanking, Oct. 9.

The first special train marking the resumption of direct communication on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway left Pukow for Tientsin yesterday morning.

The passenger service between Hauchowfu and Chengchow has been restored, while arrangements are being made for a resumption of passenger and freight traffic between Hankow and Chengchow. —Reuter.

£20,000 JEWEL ROBBERY.

THIEF RAIDS SAFE IN A BATHROOM.

PEARL NECKLACE GOES.

Jewellery valued at between £15,000 and £20,000, which included a pearl necklace worth £10,000, was stolen recently from Downside, Leatherhead, Surrey, the home of Miss Hulton, daughter of the late Sir Edward Hulton and Lady Hulton.

The jewellery is the property of Miss Hulton, and includes valuable presents which she received on the occasion of her recent 21st birthday.

It is thought that the thief entered the house by climbing on to a veranda and crawling through a bath-room window. The safe with the jewels was in the bath-room, and the man apparently found the key in a cupboard after a long and methodical search. Everything in the safe was taken. The only clue discovered by the police was an old mackintosh which was left folded under the veranda. It is believed to belong to the thief.

Miss Hulton's secretary stated to a Press representative: "Miss Hulton's room adjoins the bath-room, and although she is a light sleeper she did not hear a sound. Her bed-room door was open when she went to sleep. This morning it was shut, so the man must have calmly closed it before getting on with his work. Her pet dog was also in the room, but no one heard it bark during the night. There were two guests in an adjoining room, and they also heard nothing unusual."

£1,000 DIAMOND RING.

"The pearl necklace was bought by Miss Hulton recently, and contained rare pearls which should be recognised by experts when the thieves attempt to dispose of the necklace. There was also a diamond ring worth £4,000 or £5,000, a miniature diamond watch with an onyx strap, which was given to Miss Hulton by Lady Hulton, and several other valuable pieces of jewellery. A brooch set with diamonds, pearls, and rubies worth several hundred pounds was also taken.

"The theft was discovered at about 9 a.m. to-day (Sunday), when a maid went to call Miss Hulton. She went through the bath-room and found the safe empty and the empty cases neatly piled on top of the chest of drawers. We cannot place the time of the theft, but imagine it was towards dawn, as Miss Hulton was talking with friends late at night and did not go to bed until 1 a.m.

"The servants, who sleep in another part of the building, heard nothing, and a second dog, sleeping under the veranda, was undisturbed.

"The police were told as soon as the loss was discovered, and they have been making a thorough search of the house and grounds. As far as I know, beyond the mackintosh, which is very old, there is no clue. We specially searched the grounds for footprints but were unsuccessful. I do not think the police found any finger-prints in the bath-rooms or on the window."

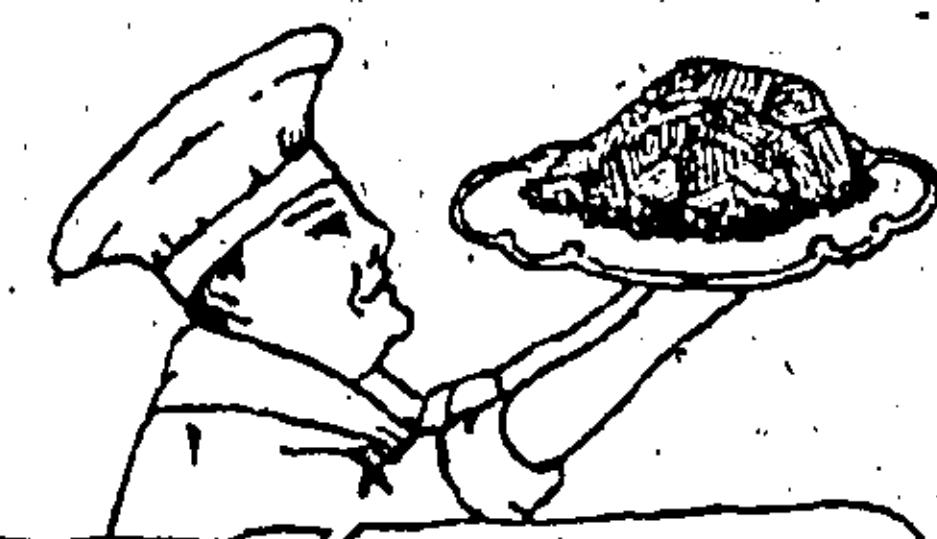

RECENT ROBBERIES.

Recent thefts include: Jewels worth about £50,000 were stolen from the suite at a West End hotel last April of Mrs. Anton Jurgens, wife of the millionaire manufacturer.

Early in January motor bandits broke into the residence of Sir Spencer Pocock, Baronet, at Yattendon House, Berks, and stole £20,000 worth of jewellery, which included a pearl necklace valued at £18,000.

Thieves broke into Poyle Manor, near Staines, occupied by Mrs. R. D. Bain, on August 11, and stole half-hunter watch, a Diamond Sculls trophy dated 1844, a gold Louis XVI. oval-shaped box, other jewellery, and notes.

Thieves broke into Wrottesley Hall, the home of Lord Wrottesley, on July 30, and ARGYLLS ENGAGED WITH ATHLETIC.

INTERESTING GAMES.

BY "WANDERER."

The guides to form provided by last week's matches suggest that the most interesting fixture on the Senior Division card will be that of the Chinese Athletic and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders at the Stadium. Two "unknown quantities" will be in opposition on the Club de Recreio ground, where a very keen game should be witnessed.

A full programme of matches is scheduled as follows:

Senior Division.

Somersets v. Royal Navy.—Sookunpoo, 4.30. R. Artillery v. Club.—Club, 4.30. Chinese Ath. v. Argylls.—Stadium, 4.30. Police v. South China.—Kowloon, 4.30. Recreio v. St. Joseph's.—Recreio, 4.30.

Second Division.

Argylls v. Navy.—Kowloon, 3 p.m. St. Joseph's v. Somersets.—St. Joseph's, 3 p.m. Club v. University.—Club, 3 p.m. Chinese v. Eastern.—Stadium, 3 p.m. S. China v. Recreio.—Caroline Hill, 3 p.m. R.A. Res. v. Kowloon.—Sookunpoo, 3 p.m.

Third Division.

Chinese v. R. Engineers.—Chinese, 4.30. Somersets v. Fukien.—St. Joseph's, 4.30. South China v. R.A.F.—Caroline Hill, 4.30. Ewo v. R.A.S.C.—Chinese, 3 p.m.

The Somersets received something of a shock last week, but they should make no mistake against the Royal Navy team, which is still unable to draw upon its best players. The Navy are expected to field a side a trifle stronger than that of last week, but the soldiers are strong favourites for full points.

The Club will find the Royal Artillery less difficult to hold than the Athletic, though they cannot afford to take anything for granted. The R.A. are a very sound combination, possessing few brilliant players, a deficiency, if it may be regarded, which is more than compensated for by their teamwork. Gill and Allen are dangerous forwards who will require watching. A change at right back and a couple of forward positions should do the Club a lot of good.

While the Argylls can be trusted to put up a keen game, the Athletic should obtain two further points from this match at the Stadium. The new Athletic forward line is something of an eye-opener, while the Argylls are not too accurate in the region of goal. South China require a good deal of watching—perhaps from more than one viewpoint. It is to be hoped that their methods against the Somersets last week are not an indication of the type of exhibition to be expected from them in all games. It brought them a handsome win a week ago. It should not be necessary against the Police, who appear to be weak in several departments and only distinctly strong in one, goal.

The Club de Recreio and the St. Joseph's teams have not been seen yet this season. I understand that both have a leavening of new blood, and the result of their clash will largely depend upon whether the introductions perform according to expectations.

The Navy, Somersets, University, Eastern, South China, and R.A. Res. in the Second Division, and Chinese Athletic, Fukien, South China and Ewo in the Third are looked upon as probable winners.

POLO AT SHANGHAI.

TIENTSIN DEFEAT TEAM OF VOLUNTEERS.

Shanghai, Oct. 9.

In a polo match here, Tientsin beat the British members of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps by 4 goals to 1. Pence and Foy scored one goal each for Tientsin in the first and again in the last chukker. Shanghai scored their solitary point in the third chukker.—Reuter.

CRAIGENGOWER CLUB ANNUAL MEETING.

TENNIS PLAYERS CAN'T GET A GAME.

The annual general meeting of the Craigengower Cricket Club was held in the clubhouse yesterday evening, under the chairmanship of the President, Mr. B. W. Bradbury.

In commenting on the statement of accounts, the chairman said they had had a very satisfactory year, although a little under the previous year, but considering the abnormal times the affairs of the club were in a very satisfactory state. The new officers were elected:

President, Mr. B. W. Bradbury; Vice-President, Mr. C. S. Rossetti; Secretary, Mr. R. Bassa; Treasurer, Mr. D. K. Kharas.

First eleven cricket captain, Mr. H. P. Lim; Vice-captain, Mr. A. B. Hanson; second eleven cricket captain, Mr. W. B. Musket; vice-captain, Mr. J. W. Leonard.

Committee, Messrs. E. el Arculli, W. B. Musket, B. A. Trotter, W. Allen, A. L. Sousa, Y. Abbas and U. M. Omar.

The meeting decided to give the usual honours of $200 each to the hon. secretary and the hon. treasurer, and it was also decided that a sum of $100 should be given to the auditor for his work during the year. The meeting also passed a resolution that in future a professional auditor's services should be obtained, one member saying it would cost $100 while another said it would be only $75.

The chairman said that the resolution was passed subject to the remuneration stated being found correct.

Crowded Courts.

A member complained with regard to people monopolising the tennis courts and asked what the ruling was. It was explained that members were only allowed to play one set if other members were waiting, and there was a slate on which intending players should put their names.

In this connexion, Mr. O'Brien said there was a rule to the effect that resident non-members could only use the club's courts once a month, but, he said, he was sure such people were being allowed to use them more often. The chairman said he would bring the matter before the in-coming committee.

Mr. W. Ward suggested that the club should have a groundsmen, and the motion was approved.

To celebrate their first division performances in the Lawn Bowls League, the players of Craigengower C.C. are being entertained to dinner by Mr. B. W. Bradbury at the Club, on Saturday week, October 18. The Club has won the shield for the third year in succession and for the fourth time since 1925.

CANTON TENNIS LEAGUE.

FIRST MATCHES OF THE SEASON.

Canton, Oct. 8.

The Canton Tennis League commenced their season over the weekend when the first matches were played off. The League this year consists of two divisions instead of one as in the past two years. In all, twelve teams have been entered. In the A. Division there are five teams, the Canton Citizens Athletic Association, the Japanese Lawn Tennis Club, the Lingnam University, the Shameen Lawn Tennis Club, and the Yuet Shau Club. The B. Division consists of seven teams, the Chinese Citizens Athletic Association A. & B. Teams, the Chinese Maritime Customs, the Japanese Lawn Tennis Club, the Shameen Lawn Tennis Club, the Lingnam University, and the Tung Shan Garden Club (German Club).

In the A. Division, the Lingnam University took the first place by defeating the Yuet Shau Club by five matches to nil, whilst the Japanese Tennis Club took second place by defeating the Shameen Lawn Tennis Club by a narrow margin of three matches to two.

In the B. Division, the Tung Shan Garden Club defeated the Chinese Maritime Customs by four matches to one. The other Clubs in this division have still to play off their first round matches.—Our Own Correspondent.

R. F. LUZ SETS HIGH STANDARD.

BRILLIANT MATCH IN BOWLS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Play of a high standard was witnessed in the lawn bowls match between R. F. Luz and A. W. Grimmitt in the fourth round of the Open Championship, played at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club yesterday, the holder winning by 21 shots to 14. Luz now meets the winner of the game between F. C. Goodman and U. M. Omar.

The champion was playing a brilliant game throughout, and established an early lead to give him the advantage by eight shots to nil at the end of the fifth head. He was drawing beautifully and scoring when it seemed almost impossible to do so. He was always rolling the jack for a short head against the long heads preferred by Grimmitt.

The Civil Service player was most unfortunate during the opening stages of the game, and should have registered his first point earlier than the sixth head. He was playing good bowls, but always just missed his shots. On the sixth head he found Luz lying three, and disposed of his opponent's wood to take the count and from that point he was having more luck.

Luz found his form from the start and quickly jumped into the lead whilst his opponent was still judging the run of the green. At the fifth head the Recreio player had a clear lead of eight shots, but Grimmitt, in taking his champion's wood out, Luz amazed the spectators by removing a count of three against him, registered his first point on the sixth followed by a three at the next. The play was of a high standard with both men showing excellent form.

The best piece of work of the day was at the 17th head, where Grimmitt put his second shot just short of the jack. Luz drew the shot by displacing his opponent, who retaliated by taking the champion's wood out. Luz amazed the spectators by removing Grimmitt's wood and taking the count.

The Duchy of Cornwall is proposing to undertake on an extensive scale an experiment in afforestation on Dartmoor, and it has offered a large tract of moorland in the neighbourhood of Belvoir Tor to the Forestry Commission for planting with fir and larch trees. Archaeologists, interested in Dartmoor research, have objected to this scheme. It is understood that the Dartmoor Preservation Society is considering making representations to the Duchy.

HOSTLY "FIRE" SEEN AT SEA.

LEGHORN RESCUE CRAFT CHASE A MIRAGE.

The people of Leghorn were recently alarmed to see a great conflagration about 30 miles out in the Mediterranean. It was apparently a ship on fire and there was fear that it could not be reached in time, so high were the flames.

The commandant of the port set out for the scene in a motor-boat, followed by a life-boat and two tugs. The chief of police also embarked on a high-speed launch.

But to the astonishment of the rescuers the fire, while still burning brightly, kept moving ahead of the approaching boats. The police boat then set off at 20 knots in pursuit of the phantom flame, and only returned to port at 4.30 in the morning after a fruitless and mystifying chase.

When daylight came the sea was searched, but no trace of a burning ship could be found, and the only possible solution of the mystery was that the thousands of observers and authorities had been victimised by a mirage—a phenomenon not hitherto recorded in these parts.

Inquiries subsequently brought out that there had been a forest fire burning for two days at Mariana Marina, on the island of Elba. The sea was as calm as glass after a broiling day. There had been created in the atmosphere conditions which concentrated the furious flame at night-time in a point of vivid reflection miles out at sea.

SERVICES HARBOUR SWIM.

FORRESTER COMES FIRST IN BIG FIELD.

Judging his course well so as to take full advantage of the tide and current, Gunner Forrester, of the Royal Artillery, came first in the annual harbour swim for service men yesterday afternoon. He touched the Praya near the V.R.C. about 20 yards in front of Bandsman Jamieson, of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, while a further 100 yards back came Sapper Evans, of the Royal Engineers.

Major General Sandilands presented trophies and certificates immediately after the finish.

The men who dived off the police at Kowloon numbered 26, and those who finished within a quarter of an hour of the winner were: Gunner Forrester (R.A.), 31 min. 10 sec.; Bandsman Jamieson (Argylls), 31 min. 27 sec.; Sapper Evans (R.A.), L. THE HOLLYWOOD STORY—By Ernest Lynn.

CHAPTER XXXII.

When Dan and Paul returned from dinner that evening the girl at the telephone switchboard informed them that there had been a call for Mr. Rorimer. Ziggy was clamorous for news of himself and Anne Winter; and Ziggy said that his mother down in Tulsa, who was very fond of Anne, had wanted to know what kind of a person Dan Rorimer was.

"And if you don't write pretty soon," read Ziggy's threat, "I'll tell her. Furthermore, I've still got that telegram you sent me just before you first called on little Anne—and those neckties you sent me are just about worn out. They must have been pretty cheap."

In reply Dan wrote that the ties had been sent as a mark of gratitude; he'd send none as a bribe, and Ziggy might as well get his blackmailing ideas out of his head. "And those ties cost six dollars apiece, which is more than you pay for a hat, you little red-headed squirt."

He wrote a letter to his parents in Knoxville, enclosing a snapshot of himself standing beneath a palm tree. Paul had taken it. And there was another letter to a former pal in Detroit—long ones, all of them.

But when lunch time rolled around there had been no phone call from Grand United.

"Maybe he didn't read it after all," Dan thought, departing for lunch. "Maybe something turned up."

And Dan interrupted her to ask where Eva had gone. "Did she go back to New Orleans?"

"Yes." She told him then about the pitiful little note that Eva had written and left for them—all the more pitiful because Eva had tried to write so bravely.

"And she said"—Anne spoke with a catch in her voice—"She said that it wasn't goodbye really, because she would see us in pictures, and hear us talk. I feel very broken-hearted, Dan."

"I know it. It's pretty tough, Anne. But you'll have to try not to feel badly." And he asked how Mona had taken it. "I guess it hits Mona pretty hard, doesn't it?"

"Terrific."

When she had hung up he told Paul Collier what had happened.

"It's a rotten shame," Collier said, but he, too, agreed that Eva had done wisely. "It would be a good thing," he said earnestly, "if a few thousand more of them packed up and went home; they'd save themselves a lot of grief."

Paul declared that sometimes when he got thinking of the extras he felt very blue. "Positively, I know a few, and I'll swear I don't see how they get along. And there are lots of them worse off than Eva Harley; Eva at least had a couple of friends she could count on."

He sat down then to his typewriter and began to write, and after a while he laid what he had written in front of Dan and asked him to read it.

It was a "column" about the Hollywood extras, a moving little story about an army that was foredoomed to failure. Dan, when he had read it, nodded approvingly and declared it was a pretty piece of writing. Paul, he thought, ought to try his hand at "sob stuff" more often.

"You're crazy not to. This is the best column you've turned out in weeks."

Paul took it and began to "read copy" on it. Some day, he prophesied, somebody would dig up a real story in Hollywood. "It's here, all right."

"If you weren't so lazy," Dan told him unfeelingly, "you'd write it yourself."

Paul irritated him sometimes. Dan thought he was a little too satisfied with things as they were, and that he ought to make more use of his ability. He was forever thinking of a story that he ought to write, but he never got around to it; or, as in the case of the book he had started on, his enthusiasm soon died.

He turned back to his magazine then, but he made a sorry job of getting anything out of it, because his thoughts persisted in dwelling on the interview he had had with Phillips. Phillips at that very moment might be reading his manuscript, and Dan wondered uneasily what the man's verdict would be.

Now that the thing was out of his hands, he could think of several places where he might have improved it, but that was always the way. It had been like that when he was writing news stories and fiction; once the stuff was irreversibly in print, faults became apparent to which he had been blind when it was not too late to remedy them.

He threw his magazine down and got up and strolled aimlessly through the apartment. Paul glanced at him once or twice and then turned back to his typewriting; but presently he announced with a great deal of noise that he was knocking on for the night.

"What's bothering you, my boy?" And he added with a broad grin that he could guess. "Let's get out of here for a while. Grab your hat."

TALKIES AT KOWLOON.

MAJESTIC THEATRE NOW EQUIPPED.

From to-day the Majestic Theatre, Nathan Road, Kowloon, will show talking pictures. A preview of the first film to inaugurate the change, "Broadway Babies," was screened yesterday morning and proved the acoustics of the building suitable.

Western Electric Sound Equipment, the same as in the Queen's and Central Theatres, has been installed, and is capable of showing all types of talking pictures.

The Majestic will show pictures from the First National, Paramount, Warner Brothers and Pathé studios and expect shortly to film the 1930 releases of Paramount.

"Broadway Babies" will be followed by "Interference," "The Wedding March," "The Grand Parade," and "Lilac Time," which are either all-talking or synchronised films.

Anne was curious to know what had happened. She called him up the following day and they went out that evening and danced. It was the first time in many weeks that he had danced with her, and he reminded her of this.

"Who's been taking you around?" And Anne laughed gaily. "Oh, not many people."

"Plenty, I'll bet." He knew that she had been going out a good deal of late. She was not very busy these days, doing very little more than reporting daily to the studio. He accused her of forgetting him.

"You know better," she said lightly.

"Yeah? Don't tell me. I know a thing or two about some of the handsome boy friends. What chance has a hack writer got against these young screen idols?"

Anne said, "You're not a hack writer."

"Well, what am I?"

"For one thing, you're very attractive and—little-boycish." She gazed at him thoughtfully across the little table where they sat and shook her head. "Dan, you ought to believe in yourself more. Sometimes I think you just don't care what happens."

"Oh, yes I do."

"Then stop calling yourself a hack writer. You know very well that a hack writer couldn't write a play like yours."

"Well, nobody bought it." He grinned.

"Oh, you're too unreasonable to argue with," she said, impatiently.

"Bull-headed, eh?" and at her despairing head shake he became serious once more, explained that the play really meant more to him than she thought.

"It's come to mean too much, Anne. If it isn't accepted I think I'll—I'll cut my throat or something. That's the way I feel about it now."

Anne watched him light a cigarette, watched him with a wistful little smile trembling on her lips as he blew out the match and dropped it in the ash tray. She said, as he lifted his eyes, "They'll accept it, Dan."

"If they do," he said, "I'll sure celebrate. His blue eyes twinkled again. "And I'll begin to sleep regularly again."

If it was accepted, he was thinking, he'd have a suggestion to make to Grand United. But Anne need not know about that until later.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

ISLAND RESERVOIRS ALL OVERFLOWING.

There were 247.71 million gallons more water in storage in the Colony's Reservoirs (Island and Kowloon) on October 1 than there were on the same day of the corresponding month last year, according to the figures supplied by the Water Authority.

Of the total storage 2,118.41 m.g. were in the Island reservoirs and 529.41 in those of Kowloon, as compared with 1,889.20 m.g. in the Island reservoirs and 511.15 in Kowloon on October 1 last year.

The following table gives the storage in millions and decimals of gallons in the various reservoirs on the Island:

	1929	1930
Tytam	333.15	384.80
Tytam Baywash	4.02	22.37
Tytam Intermediate	195.90	195.90
Tytam Tuk	1,274.92	1,419.00
Wongneicheong	17.95	30.34
Pokfulam	63.26	66.00
	1,889.20	2,118.41

The Island consumption for the month of September was 350.99 m.g., the estimated population being 446,320, giving a consumption per head per day of 26.2 gallons. In September of last year the figures were: consumption 238.54 m.g., estimated population 436,000 and consumption per head per day 18.2 gallons.

Kowloon

In Kowloon the storage figures were:

	1929	1930
Kowloon Reservoir	385.00	380.40
Shik Lai Pai	93.00	116.10
Reception Reservoir	33.15	33.15

Totals 511.15 529.65

The consumption for September was 157.75 m.g. by an estimated population of 177,040, giving a consumption per head per day of 29.6 gallons. In September last year the consumption was 119.56 m.g., the estimated population being 172,000, and the consumption per head per day 23.2 gallons.

All the Island reservoirs are now level with overflow, while on October 1 last year only the Tytam Intermediate was level, Tytam Tuk being 5 ft. 11 inches below and the Baywash 17 ft. 9 inches below.

The Kowloon reservoir is now 2 ft. 7 inches above overflow and the others level.

The rainfall this year from January 1 to October 1 is given as 94.75 inches as compared with 67.89 a year ago.

AN ACCIDENT WITH GASOLINE.

COOLIE SEVERELY BURNED IN NATHAN ROAD.

Wong Kam-hung, employed at the Duro Garage, Kowloon, was severely burned while conveying gasoline in a ricksha along Nathan Road last night. He is now in Kowloon Hospital with his right leg badly burned, but his condition is reported not to be serious.

The gasoline was in a tin between Wong's legs and the motion of the ricksha spilled some of it onto the lamp. The vehicle burst into flames, but they were extinguished before much damage had been done. The ricksha coolie was unhurt.

NEW TREATMENT FOR PNEUMONIA.

SUCCESS IN THE USE OF VITAMIN A.

The value of vitamin A in the treatment of certain infectious disorders has already been mentioned, and Professor Mellanby's successful treatment of blood-poisoning with a diet in this fat-soluble vitamin has also been recorded.

The current issue of the British Medical Journal gives an account of an attempt to apply similar treatment to a series of cases of pneumonia among native mine labourers in the Transvaal. During the period August, 1929, to February, 1930 two doctors treated 299 cases of uncomplicated pneumonia, adopting ordinary routine treatment in 100 cases, treatment by means of ox-liver in 99 cases, and treatment by means of concentrated vitamin A preparations in 100 cases.

Patients were placed in one or other of these three groups strictly in rotation, and no attempt was made to select cases for treatment by any of the methods adopted.

Vitamin A was administered during the acute stage and for two days after the temperature had fallen to normal. In this group the mortality was 8 per cent. In the control cases treated by routine measures it was 10 per cent, and in the cases treated by ox-liver it was a fraction over 9 per cent. Thus the vitamin A treatment did appear to save a small number of lives, and there was a still more striking contrast in the after history of these patients. The group treated by the routine methods showed many more examples of

POLICEMAN KILLED BY A CAR.

SERGEANT'S STORY OF NO LIGHTS OR STOP.

The inquest on Police-constable Arthur Lawes, who died in St. James's Hospital, Balham, after injuries from being knocked down by a motor-car believed to be stolen, in Garratt-lane, Tooting, was resumed at Battersea.

The car was abandoned a short distance away.

Police-sergeant Saynes said the car came towards them, as Lawes attempted with outstretched arms to stop it, without lights and at between 30 and 40 miles an hour.

Lawes sprang backwards. The car followed him and the off-side front wing struck him. Lawes was carried across the pavement about 9 yards into Fountain-road, where he dropped off. The off-side front wheel of the car appeared to go over his forehead.

He (Sergeant Saynes) called on the driver to stop, but he accelerated and drove away rapidly down Fountain-road.

The inquest was again adjourned.

A slow recovery with delay in the disappearance of disease in the lungs. It is notoriously difficult to estimate the value of any form of treatment in pneumonia on account of the great variety of forms in which it occurs. The two South African doctors, S. Donaldson and J. Tasker, seem to have adopted a useful method of studying the effect of treatment in pneumonia, and the results obtained warrant a more extensive use of vitamin A in this often fatal malady.

BOY'S FOUR YEARS IN A BOX.

SENTENCE ON CHIEFTAIN REDUCED.

ABUSE OF POSITION.

Karachi, Oct. 9. In the appeal court to-day, the sentence of ten years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine Rs.2,000 recently passed on the Moslem chieftain known as the Pirpagaro or "Sain of the Turban," was reduced to eight years' rigorous imprisonment, the fine being unaltered.

The Pirpagaro was severely censured by the Court for the "barbarous abuse" of his position as the religious head of the community. The charges included the illegal possession of arms and the kidnapping of a boy.

The circumstances of the arrest of the chieftain early in the year caused a sensation. The police in January, in response to an urgent appeal from the women of his household, raided his fortress at midnight and rescued several members of his harem. Then the police in March searched the fortress and found a large, concealed store of arms and ammunition also a youth named Ibrahim, shut up in a box in which he had been chained for four years.

The Pirpagaro was acquitted of a charge of murdering Ibrahim's mother.—Reuters.

FATAL LANDSLIDE AT KOWLOON.

SEVERAL COOLIES BURIED UNDER EARTH.

A fatal landslide occurred on the small hill at the east end of Shantung Street, just behind the Nam Hing Knitting Factory, yesterday afternoon, when a gang of coolies who were at work removing earth were buried, resulting in the instant death of one man and two others being removed to hospital, one in a critical condition.

The unfortunate men were members of a gang removing earth from the hill. They were digging from the base, when a large quantity of earth became dislodged and slid down, burying them. Some of the men were able to extricate themselves, but others had to be dug out. One of the men was found to have succumbed, while another was suffering from a fractured spine. A third had a broken leg.

The man with the broken back was the driver of a lorry which had arrived in preparation for the earth to be removed, and he had been standing near the coolies watching operations when the accident occurred. He is in a critical condition and little hope is held out for his recovery.

There were reports of two other men having been buried, but this is not definite. At any rate, no further bodies have yet been recovered.

The many friends in the Colony of Miss N. A. Purden, who left for Home in 1925, will be interested to know that she has been admitted an Associate member of the London Association of Accountants, having successfully completed the examinations of that body. She becomes the only lady member of the South-Western Branch of the Association.

Mr. Hanske and one of his assistants arrived at Chaoan the following day. When they went ashore they were surrounded by a big crowd, struck at, and robbed. Many members of the crowd wore the Kuomintang emblem and about ten flourished revolvers.

Mr. Hanske being under the impression that they were government officials, applied to them in vain for protection. He and his assistant were then dragged through the streets, one man with a drawn revolver leading the way and another man, similarly armed, following. They were told that they would be shot and were conveyed to the headquarters of the Labour Union where their arms were tied with ropes.

Paraded in "Fool's" Caps.

Afterwards paper clown caps bearing Chinese characters of a defamatory nature were put on their heads and they were paraded through the streets by a huge crowd carrying flags on which were written similar Chinese characters. Anti-foreign speeches were made en route by the chair-

GERMAN SUFFERS INDIGNITIES.

FULL DETAILS OF THE HANSKE CASE.

CHARGES SHOWN TO BE QUITE FALSE.

FIRM'S STATEMENT.

A vivid account of the indignities suffered by Mr. C. Hanske at the hands of a mob opposed to the sale of foreign fertiliser in the interior, is contained in a statement issued in Shanghai by his employers, Messrs. Deutsche Stickstoff Handelsgesellschaft (Krauch & Co.).

It will be remembered that Mr. Hanske was attacked at Chao An, on the Fukien-Kuantung border, while on a trip in the interests of his firm and was imprisoned on trumped-up charges until diplomatic representations effected his release. He is now in Shanghai, little the worse for his terrible experience.

The Statement.

The statement in full follows:—On August 30 last Mr. C. Hanske accompanied by two Chinese assistants set out from Swatow for Chaoan (Fukien) to inquire into the existence of a boycott of sulphate of ammonia and the attitude of the local authorities. He took with him 300 bags of Sulphate of Ammonia which had been ordered by our agent at Chaoan.

At Gin Kao Mr. Hanske went ashore to declare the shipment at the Native Customs. The Customs officer, Mr. Hwang Su-hun, at first refused to allow its transhipment as he had been advised by the Kuomintang at Chaoan of the prohibition of the sale of artificial fertilisers.

Soldiers Intervene.

Upon the strength, however, of the Customs papers he eventually permitted the trans-shipment and coolies commenced to load the cargo on junks. Soldiers then came on the scene and ordered them to stop.

Asked on what authority they acted, they replied that they had received instructions from Mr. Hwang Su-hun. Mr. Hanske called on him three times, in order to verify this statement, which he denied. After a strong protest had been lodged and Custom papers again presented he withdrew the soldiers and allowed the work to proceed.

Surrounded by Crowd.

Mr. Hanske and one of his assistants arrived at Chaoan the following day. When they went ashore they were surrounded by a big crowd, struck at, and robbed. Many members of the crowd wore the Kuomintang emblem and about ten flourished revolvers.

Mr. Hanske being under the impression that they were government officials, applied to them in vain for protection. He and his assistant were then dragged through the streets, one man with a drawn revolver leading the way and another man, similarly armed, following. They were told that they would be shot and were conveyed to the headquarters of the Labour Union where their arms were tied with ropes.

False Charges.

These charges were false, for the following reasons:

(1) Mr. Hanske was in possession of a Chinese travelling passport.

(2) Mr. Hanske did not carry a pistol or any other arms.

(3) The Customs were not damaged.

(4) Mr. Hanske was unable to call on the magistrate as he was kept on the landing place by the crowd.

After strong diplomatic protests and private representations had been made, Mr. Hanske was released after a detention of eight days.

The cause of all the trouble undoubtedly was the hatred of foreign fertiliser instilled in the minds of the people by the Native Goods Association of Swatow, which is apparently financed by beancake importers. Fertiliser of the kind sold by Mr. Hanske and his principals has definitely replaced beancake as an aid to Chinese agriculture, and the beancake merchants are not unnaturally suffering.

FINANCIAL ALARM IN GERMANY.

PEOPLE CONVERTING MONEY INTO OTHER CURRENCIES.

BANK RATE INCREASE.

Berlin, Oct. 9. The uneasiness in German financial circles was indicated to-day by the announcement that the Reichsbank had increased the discount rate from four to five per cent. Nevertheless the move came as a surprise to the banks and led to a drop in quotations on the Stock Exchange in some cases by over twenty per cent.

It is explained that the increase is intended to check the withdrawals from the Reichsbank, which are estimated to have amounted to at least £30,000,000 since the success of Hitler, the Fascist leader, in the recent elections.

This development in German politics disturbed foreign countries and led to a demand for the redemption of short-term credits, while thousands of Germans have converted their bank balances into foreign currency and deposited them abroad, apparently fearing another period of inflation in Germany.

Financial circles, however, ridicule such possibility. They point out that over 64 per cent. of the Reichsbank's bank note circulation is covered by gold and foreign guarantees. The increase in the discount rate is merely a precaution.—Reuters.

man of the Labour Union and others. The procession proceeded in the same way as when they were first seized and many photos were taken. The crowd shouted continually: "Down with the white devils, down with imperialism—Prohibition of artificial fertilisers."

The Charges.

In the afternoon of the same day Mr. Hanske and his assistant were relieved of their bonds by the magistrate's secretary, who brought them to the magistrate's building, where a room was assigned to them. After having been detained for some days, Mr. Hanske was informed that the following charges had been brought against him:

- (1) Not being in possession of a Chinese travelling passport.
- (2) Compelling the importation of sulphate of ammonia by armed force.
- (3) Damaging the Custom House.
- (4) Not reporting his arrival to the authorities.
